Vice-Chancellor's message

After two years of pandemic, finally our university is opened for face to face teaching, from the month of March. However, our online classes were running from the beginning of the semester, i.e. January. In the beginning, there was panic and resistance. But with the grace of God, the fear psychosis has gone down gradually. The university is working with full swing and sincerity. Students are appearing in their exams without fear. However the impact of pandemic is quite visible. Thank God! It is the internet that the education could be imparted .But the face to face teaching cannot be replaced by online. I request all the students, never to give up the health protocol. Whatever the pandemic has taught us, it should be kept in memory and health protocol should be given first priority in life.

Registrar's Message

After two years of pandemic, finally we could start our vibrant campus. In the month of January, there was a threat of covid variant 'omicron'. Therefore there was a situation of wait and watch. However, in the month of March we took decision of opening the campus which was welcomed by all. We have started offline mode of teaching and campus life. The students are quite happy. But they have to take some precautionary measures for maintaining their health. I wish that life should move on with speed.

M.P.Srivastava
(Retd. District Judge)

Editorial

This is the fifth issue of CNLU news letter CILPE. Presently the environment is normal everywhere. We are so busy in our routine that the pandemic has become a history. It's good to forget the horrible events / accidents in life so that we can march ahead with full potency. The campus is vibrant, students are happy, busy in their classes, library, yoga centre and playground. Faculty are engaged in class, research, seminar and other activities with all sincerity. I wish all the students healthy, happy and creative life.
